LEVIN, WEINSTEIN STRIKE OPEN GOLD

Open Pairs champs Bobby Levin and Steve Weinstein

Four years after their disappointment in Verona, where they lost out to a late rally by another pair, Bobby Levin and Steve Weinstein made sure no one could catch them in the final of the Generali Open Pairs, leading all the way to win by more than two tops.

Second place went to Bjorn Fallenius and Peter Fredin. Josef Piekarek and Alexander Smirnov earned the bronze medal.

In the Generali Women's Pairs, Lynn Deas and Beth Palmer won by nearly three tops over Canadians Kismet Fung and Susan Culham. Fung and Brian Glubok were second in the Mixed Pairs earlier in the tournament. Third went to Carla Arnolds and Bep Vriend of the Netherlands, who won in 1994.

The IMP Pairs championship went to Wolfe Thompson and Marc Zwerling. They were followed by Joao-Paulo Campos and Miguel Villas-Boas. Third place went to Kelley Hwang and John Zilic.

In the Mixed Swiss Teams, the team captained by Greg Hinze won the gold, followed by the Hansa Narasimhan squad in second and Steelers, an American team. Hinze's teammates were Daniel Lavee, Connie Goldberg, Dale and Lynn Johannesen and JoAnn Sprung.

In the World Junior Championship for the Ortiz-Patiño Trophy, Israel defeated France 169-151. Poland won the World Youngsters Championship for the Damiani Cup by defeating England 182-138. In the World Youth Individual, Dennis Bilde won the Juniors, Adam Grossack won the Youngsters.

A message from José Damiani

Mr President Emeritus,
Dear Jimmy:

We are so glad that you are with us here in Philadelphia as it is always a pleasure and a privilege to be with you, and this time we are also privileged to have my two predecessors and good friends, Ernesto d'Orsi and Bobby Wolff.

All good things must come to an end and, in my particular case, this is not only the end of an incredible championship but also the end of my tenure as President of the World Bridge Federation.

You will, I am sure, wish to join me in thanking the USBF and the ACBL for all they have done to ensure the success of this Championship in excellent playing conditions. A particular vote of thanks must go to Joan Gerard, without whom none of this would have been possible. She took charge of every aspect of the organization of this event – a truly remarkable feat.

During the last 16 years I have endeavored to drag the WBF into the 21st century, making full use of all the new technology that is now available to us: bridge tables with full screens, bidding boxes and cards, symmetrical playing cards, duplication, Bridge Mates, Bridge Vision and computerized line-ups. And, thanks to Al Levy, we had very successful Computer Bridge Championships. We are now developing an automatic recording system with web cam and an electronic reader that will allow every match to be broadcast on Internet and keep track of all the bidding and play. It will also remove the need for recorders and eliminate human error.

I have always worked for the comfort and good of the players while also trying to make the image of bridge more dynamic. We have created new events – the Transnationals and the Mixed events – to encourage not only the elite players but also the medium-ranked ones. Bridge should be a celebration for all the participants.

We have created the African Zone – Zone 8 – and have finally succeeded in getting Zones 4 and 6 to work together to apply for the 2014 Asian Games.

In line with this, we have also seen the WBF recognized by the IOC as an International Sports Federation and we have become a member of the ARISF, the non-Olympic group of sports federations recognized as International Federations. We are also members of SportAccord, the biggest international sport organization bringing together all the Olympic and non-Olympic International Federations – about 100 in all.

In 2005 I created IMSA and we held our first World Mind Sports Games in Beijing in 2008. This was a very significant date in the history of the WBF as we were able to invite and pay for nearly 110 youth teams and some 25 women's teams. As we all know, the youth are the future of our great federation and I am delighted to have our Youth teams with us here.

It has been a pleasure and a privilege to work with, and for, you all throughout both the good times and the not so good times. And before leaving I would like to extend my sincere gratitude to the whole team who have worked with me throughout this period.

I am obviously referring here to my colleagues on the Executive Council which I have chaired for the past 16 years in what I believe was an atmosphere of harmony. But I am also obviously thinking of the whole WBF team who come from all the corners of the world to work before and during the Championships. All of them will be mentioned in the Bulletin but I would like to thank them all from the bottom of my heart – thank you, thank you very much.

On the technical side of the organization, the extremely competent WBF staff gave us another lesson in competence and efficiency. It is remarkable that over the years we have been able to gather so many people from so many different countries who work together in a spirit of harmony and good companionship. The scoring system run by Tomas Brenning ably assisted by Carl Ragnarsson, Gianluca Barrese, Harald Skjaran and Andreas Winge, and display of results, the intelligent on-line line-up, and the perfect duplication of more than 144,000 deals by Monica Gorreri with her team of Annie Chekroun, Lesley Collier, Terry Collier, Franco Crosta, Robert Maier, Monica Manaini, Tony Lopreste and Hélène Vivier.

But there was also the vu-graph with images of the players in action, the display of the hand and its development, and the presentation of the results of all competitions simultaneously. Operators and commentators, Jean-Paul Meyer, Jan Van Cleeff, David Stern and Barry Rigal deserve our compliments.

In addition to all this fantastic apparatus, the indispensable team of tournament directors headed by Max Bavin, ably assisted by Richard Grenside, Rick Beye, Bernardo Biondo, Gustavo Chediak, Anthony Ching, Walleed El Menyani, Bertrand Gignoux, Laurie Kelso, Slawek Latala, Rui Marques, Jeanne Meiracker, Magdy Mesadary, Sean Mullamphy, Guillermo Poplawsky, Ishan Qadir, Matt Smith, Marc van Beijsterveldt and Sol Weinstein and, for the Youth events, Dimitri Ballas, Pierre Collaros and Eitan Levy. Once again, they performed an irreproachable job.

Fotis Skoularikis took care of the registration with the help of Monika Kummel.

The Internet vu-graph broadcasts were provided by Bridge Base Online. The Press Room was ably overseen by Jan Swaan while Bruce Keidan was our Press Attaché. JoAnn and Danny Sprung were responsible for the publicity and promotion of the event and Martine Schupp assisted with the payments

Behind the scenes on the technical side, Harvey Fox coordinated the IT, keeping the computers linked and the Internet alive, ably assisted by Duccio Geronimi, providing technical assistance where needed. Christine Francin, Anna Gudge and Carol von Linstow ran the WBF Secretariat with their usual efficiency and good humour. Thanks also go to Marina Madia who assisted our soon-to-be new President, Gianarrigo Rona.

Hervé Lustman ran the Internet Vu-Graph working closely with the Vu-Graph team of Bernard Delange, Bernadette Pasquier and Isabelle Barrière.

Maurizio Di Sacco did an excellent job of overseeing the entire operation with care and skill, working tirelessly throughout the event ably assisted by Manolo Eminent. A special mention for Jean-Claude Beineix for his continued presence at our Championships and his superb liaising skills between departments.

We also have to thank the Appeals Committee, under the able Chairmanship of Joan Gerard: Robert S. Wolff, Grattan Endicott (Coordinator), Jens Auken, John Wignall, Jean-Claude Beineix, Patrick Choy, Richard Colker, Jean-Louis Derivery, Ernesto d'Orsi, Ron Gerard, Mazhar Jafri, Ton Kooijman, Jean-Paul Meyer, Dan Morse, Jeffrey Poliser and William Schoder.

The caddies did a great job under the leadership of Albert Ohana assisted by his wife Yvette and Fulvio Colizzi liaised with the Duplication.

Last but not least, I would like to thank the US Organizing Committee under the Chairmanship of Joan Gerard with Joanne Glasson, John Marks, Barbara Nudelman, Bill Pollock, Craig Robinson and Bill Rosenbaum and the always cheerful assistance of Tom Purl.

And so begins a new era for the world of bridge, under the leadership of my great friend, Gianarrigo Rona. I wish him every success as he takes over the mantle as the new President of the World Bridge Federation. I am confident that you will all give him your unstinting support.

I will, of course, see you again in the future, but for now I wish you all farewell and good luck!

Numbers Game

Herman De Wael provided some interesting end-of-tournament statistics for your interest, as follows: There were 144,677 deals played during the championships; 19 appeals, a low number, and attendance was 5,631 tables, counted American style (one table = four players playing one session).

Dear José:

We have worked with you through the amazing 16 years of your presidency ...

Over the 16 years, you have found many people with diverse skills and expertise and have formed them into a cohesive team – the WBF team that comes to the Championships, where we meet as close friends and colleagues, working together for the good of the players. But all teams need a captain, a leader, and you have been the leader that we have looked up to and followed.

We are sure we speak for all your friends who work with you ... not only those here in Philadelphia, but also the ones who, for whatever reason, are not here, when we thank you for all you have done. It has been our pleasure and our privilege to be with you and we salute you.

Anna, Carol and Christine

Thank you!

On behalf of the journalists I thank the WBF, USBF and ACBL for the facilities at the World Bridge Series Championship 2010. I heard exciting news that there may be a sponsor who will provide the Press with modern computers next year.

Jan Swaan, Press Room manager

Fine Teamwork

Another championship is in the books, and it is time to say thank you to the hard-working Daily Bulletin team. As usual, Mark Horton has provided highly entertaining prose in reporting on the action at the tables, while Brian Senior was exemplary in covering the Youth competitions in addition to his usual duties.

Barry Rigal did triple duty as a Vugraph commentator, reporter and proof reader, and Phillip Alder was tireless in providing a mountain of good writing for Daily Bulletin readers.

Ron Tacchi, photographer, seemed to do the impossible – being in several different places at one time in the course of doing his job. Akis Kanaris, layout editor, put it all together and got it to the printer on time each night.

Harvey Fox and Herman De Wael, although in other departments, served unofficially but very ably as proof readers. Their efforts, especially Harvey's, were invaluable.

As always, it was a pleasure working with our coordinator, Jean-Paul Meyer, and we appreciate the confidence that the WBF, notably outgoing President José Damiani, showed in our team.

Jack and Fu

by Jan van Cleeff

In between VuGraph sessions I had a chance to kibitz China's Fu Zhong and Jack Jie Zhao, the defending world champions in the semi-final of the Open Pairs. This deal taught me a lesson in the art of pairs play:

Board 13. Dealer North. All Vul.

♠ K 10 7 ♥ K 9 6 2 ♦ 8 6 4 3 ♣ 6 4	<table style="margin: auto;"> <tr><td></td><td>N</td><td></td></tr> <tr><td>W</td><td></td><td>E</td></tr> <tr><td></td><td>S</td><td></td></tr> </table>		N		W		E		S		♠ J 8 ♥ A 4 ♦ K J 10 7 5 ♣ A J 9 5	♠ Q 5 4 ♥ Q J 8 ♦ A 9 ♣ Q 10 8 7 3

		♠ A 9 6 3 2 ♥ 10 7 5 3 ♦ Q 2 ♣ K 2

West	North	East	South
	Fu		Jack
	1♦	Pass	1♠
Pass	INT	All Pass

East led a club and Fu, who developed his diamonds, had an easy route to nine tricks for an excellent score.

Post Mortem

Note that North refused to introduce his second suit (clubs), but preferred to rebid INT. Also note that South refused to mention his second suit (hearts), happy to play INT. Jack later explained that with better hearts he certainly would have bid them.

Jack Jie Zhao, China

Board 14. Dealer East. None Vul.

♠ A 8 7 ♥ J 8 2 ♦ A 10 6 ♣ Q J 10 7	<table style="margin: auto;"> <tr><td></td><td>N</td><td></td></tr> <tr><td>W</td><td></td><td>E</td></tr> <tr><td></td><td>S</td><td></td></tr> </table>		N		W		E		S		♠ 9 6 4 ♥ Q 10 6 3 ♦ J ♣ K 6 5 3 2	♠ 5 2 ♥ A 5 4 ♦ K Q 8 7 5 4 2 ♣ 4

		♠ K Q J 10 3 ♥ K 9 7 ♦ 9 3 ♣ A 9 8

Over East's 3♦, Jack overcalled 3♠ and there it rested. West led the ace of diamonds and continued with a low trump. Declarer took in hand, ruffed a diamond, played a heart to the king and advanced a trump. This led to ten tricks, when the club loser vanished on the last heart. Again a great result for North-South.

Post Mortem

When the play was over, Jack turned his head to me: 'No, we did not miss game. West should switch to a club a trick two. I have to play carefully and win in dummy. Otherwise I might even go down due to the ruff. By the way, did you notice that they missed game? In 3NT they can take nine easy tricks.'

This deal is from session 5:

Board 3. Dealer South. E/W Vul.

♠ A Q 7 2 ♥ K J 8 7 ♦ 8 ♣ 10 9 8 3	<table style="margin: auto;"> <tr><td></td><td>N</td><td></td></tr> <tr><td>W</td><td></td><td>E</td></tr> <tr><td></td><td>S</td><td></td></tr> </table>		N		W		E		S		♠ 9 6 5 4 ♥ 6 ♦ J 4 2 ♣ Q J 7 6 5	♠ K 10 8 ♥ 10 5 ♦ Q 10 7 6 5 3 ♣ A K

A lot can be said about the bidding, but I leave that to the experts. Let's focus on the play. North led a heart: 5, 9 and jack. The ♦8 ran to South's nine, who continued with a low heart to dummy's ten (North discarding a club). South won the next diamond (West throwing a club) and played ♥A and another heart (North parting with a diamond and a club, dummy a diamond). This was the position:

Board 3. Dealer South. E/W Vul.

	♠ 9 6 5 4
	♣ Q J 7
♠ A Q 7 2	N	♠ K 10 8

♦ -	S	♦ Q 10
♣ 10 9 8		♣ A K
	♠ J 3
	♥ Q 4

Jack Zhao cashed ace-king of clubs, ♠K, overtook the ♠10 with the ace and endplayed North by playing a club pitching the ♠8 from dummy. Declarer made the last two tricks with ♠Q and seven. Neatly done.

Post Mortem

Jack Zhao bested Deep Finesse by one trick. The double-dummy analyser rated eight tricks as the maximum, against perfect defense that is (a club lead is the killer).

Zugzwang

by Mark Horton

Zugzwang (German for 'compulsion to move') is a term originally used in chess which also applies to various other games. The concept finds its formal definition in combinatorial game theory. It describes a situation where one player is put at a disadvantage because he has to make a move – the player would prefer to pass and make no move. The fact that the player must make a move means that his position will be significantly weaker than the hypothetical one in which it were his opponent's turn to move.

There are numerous occasions in bridge where a player wished it was possible to avoid 'moving'.

Playing in the Hiron Senior Pairs, Lynda Nitabach of New York City was able to overcome a couple of bad splits by exploiting a situation where her opponent had no good move.

In response to North's obscure double, South led the ten of clubs. Declarer won in dummy and played a heart to the ace, discovering the bad split. Declarer cashed the ace of spades, the ace of diamonds and ruffed a diamond. Now a low spade towards the king placed North in zugzwang. If he ruffed, declarer would play low, subsequently ruffing one more diamond in dummy and discarding the other on the master club.

If North discarded, declarer would win with the king, ruff a second diamond and discard her spade loser on the top club.

Fantunes on Defence

by Jan van Cleeff

At the beginning of the Open Pairs Final, session 3, I grabbed the chance to kibitz the leaders, Claudio Nunes and Fulvio Fantoni, playing their round against South-Africans Glen Holman and Tim Cope.

Board 1. Dealer North. None Vul.

In spite of lefty showing length in hearts and spades East decided that it was the right time to play game in spades. South kicked off with his doubleton club: nine and king. Winning the club return, declarer played the nine of trumps - ducked - and another trump. South won and switched to a diamond for his partner's queen. Fantoni cashed the ♦A and then tabled the ♥K, a fine play. Declarer took the ace and pitched two hearts on the diamonds. Nunes ruffed the fourth diamond and returned a trump. This way defense got another heart and the contract was three light. N/S 94 %.

Four Spades had been made at most of the tables. Usually South led a heart or a club, taken in dummy. On the next trick declarer secures his contract by playing a trump. N/S 42%.

At 'my' table it was North's lead. Fantoni cashed ace and king of diamonds. South followed with the five and the four (reverse count). Declarer took the club switch in his hand, played a trump and again, ten tricks were on the table.

End of story?

Not completely. Instead of the five, South could have followed with the ♦J starting his reversed signal. And on the second diamond he might have played the four, indicating the ♣K. In the actual layout he would have played the five of course. That way North would understand that his only chance was to find his partner with the ♠J. A continuation in diamonds and, in with the ♠A, a fourth diamond would have established the trump promotion. (It might also be possible for South to pretend to have a doubleton, hoping partner holds the ace of spades - certainly a fair shot at IMPs, but maybe not at pairs. Editors.)
