POWER PLAY

The Red Bull booth

Playing like they want to wrap up the Mixed Teams championship before the qualifying rounds end, the team captained by Sjoert Brink stands undefeated after eight matches and a full match ahead of the second-place squad.

Brink, of the Netherlands, is playing with Cecilia Rimstedt of Sweden and Russians Alexander Dubinin, Andrey Gromov, Victoria Gromova and Tatiana Ponomareva. The team had only two close matches, winning by an average margin of 19.75 IMPs and averaging 12.43 victory points per round (20-point scale). Today features more Swiss qualifying. Head-to-head play begins on Monday.

WORLD BRIDGE FEDERATION Medical & Prevention Commission

Gabriele PW (Chair), Aubry Y, Capelli G, Jelmoni G, Mikkelsen F, Stomphorst J, Gudge A (Secr.)

After Lille, Bali and Istanbul, we continue the project Mind & Health play together, aimed at increasing the level of knowledge and information for the players, on the part of the WBF and to provide the best possible cooperation with the IOC. Therefore, we invite all players to collaborate in this initiative. We understand that your time is valuable and the rest periods are short so we will try to be brief during the interviews and not disturb you too much.

We hereby publish a list of bookings, taking into account the number of players in Mixed Teams, and inviting the players in teams made up of 6 or 5 athletes who are resting in the first two days (Oct. 11 and 12) to come for the interview. On the third day (Oct. 13) we will be available for extra interviews and we kindly ask players who can spare the time to volunteer to assist us in this important work. Thanks in advance for your cooperation.

The Man Could Play

Tony Priday, one of England's top players for several decades, died three days ago at age 92. Among his many friends was Maureen Hiron, who published several deals played by Priday in the Independent. Three of them are presented here.

Dealer West. Both Vul

♠ J 6 ♥ Q 10 9 8 6 2 ♦ Q 8 6 4 ♣ 4	♠ A 5 4 ♥ 7 5 3 ♦ A 7 5 ♣ Q J 8 3	<table style="margin: auto;"> <tr><td></td><td>N</td><td></td></tr> <tr><td>W</td><td></td><td>E</td></tr> <tr><td></td><td>S</td><td></td></tr> </table>		N		W		E		S		♠ Q 7 2 ♥ A K J ♦ J 10 9 ♣ K 9 7 2

When one opponent pre-empted and the suit is raised by the other, the suspicion is that you are being talked out of something. In spite of the vulnerability, Tony Priday, seated South, came in with Three Spades after West opened with a weak Two Hearts and East raised. North, with some useful-looking cards, raised to Four Spades, and West led the ten of hearts to East's king. South ruffed the ace of hearts continuation, then played a spade to dummy's ace. Priday now ruffed dummy's last heart, then cashed the king of spades.

Everything was going well, and all that remained was to find the king of clubs onside, and with a reasonable break in that suit as well, the game would make.

Dummy was accessed with the ace of diamonds and the queen of clubs played. It held, but when South followed with the club jack, East covered and West showed out. Now the reason for Priday's precaution in ruffing dummy's third heart became evident. He cashed his king of diamonds then made the key play, exiting with his last diamond.

If West wins with the queen he is endplayed. On the forced red-suit return, declarer can ruff in dummy, while discarding his losing low club in hand.

If East takes the trick with the jack, he can cash the queen of spades, removing both declarer's and dummy's last trumps but must then lead a club, giving declarer the last two tricks – and the contract.

"Most of the pairs were in Six Hearts, and all bar one went down. It was just my bad luck to be playing against the best player in the club, Tony Priday. He was the only one to make the slam, and I got a bottom." Overhearing this, I went in search of the maestro himself to obtain further and better particulars.

West led the ten of spades, and when dummy descended, Priday was quietly confident. It was a good slam, requiring the trump suit to play for no more than one loser.

South won the lead in hand, and when Priday played the ace of hearts, the 5-0 break came to light. Declarer appreciated that the slam could be made only if East held at least three diamonds.

At trick three, a low heart went to dummy's nine and East's jack. Back came a spade to the king. A diamond to the ten was followed by the eight of hearts, to the queen and king. The diamond ace was cashed, and when West showed out, the path home was lit. As South needed two diamond discards in hand, the club finesse was necessary. Dummy's diamond queen was cashed and declarer's last two diamonds went away on the club ace and spade queen.

Early problems in Sanya

by Micke Melander

In the first round of the mixed teams NUNES, one of the possible favorites to win the tournament was drawn to play against the MASTERMIND team from Hong Kong. Board one immediately created several problems for the players.

Shawn Quinn and Claudio Nunes

Ling and Yeung did very well in the Open Room to avoid getting to three no trump and instead opted to play in four hearts on a 4-3 fit. Four Hearts had eleven tricks when the defense led clubs. Even worse for declarer in three no trump was that even if the king of diamonds had been onside, it still would not have guaranteed enough tricks to make the contract when the defense attacked spades. That would have been an easy opening lead in the Open Room since Quinn had found a One Spade bid on that poor hand...

In the Closed Room Fantoni overcalled with INT in fourth seat when the one club opening was passed round to him. Lam managed to put his fingers on the seven of spades, Fantoni ducked, won the second round and tried a heart to the king and North's ace. When the defense had blocked their spades, Fantoni had his ninth trick in the bag.

What looked like a big score and great start for the MASTERMIND team from Hong Kong eventually only created 2 IMPs.

The only big swing of the match came on board three.

In the Closed Room Fantoni had an easy time when he received a spade as the opening lead. He won with the queen, set up the diamonds, and when North got in with the queen of diamonds and shifted to a club Fantoni won in dummy, cashed out his diamonds and led the jack of hearts which went to the queen, king and ace. Now the ninth trick was set up for declarer, and in fact he got ten tricks when South discarded too many hearts on the diamonds so that the hearts produced two tricks.

In the Open Room Quinn made an aggressive overcall of two hearts which probably made Yeung go wrong in her choice of lines as declarer. A spade would have been killing, but South opted for her second suit and led the six of clubs which went to the two, queen and king. Three rounds of diamonds followed, South discarding hearts to put Nunes on lead. Another clubs was led, and declarer won in dummy and cashed out the diamonds, leaving the following position:

♠ K J 9 ♥ Q 5 ♦ — ♣ 10	<table style="border: 1px solid black; background-color: #4F81BD; color: white; width: 60px; height: 60px; margin: auto;"> <tr><td></td><td>N</td><td></td></tr> <tr><td>W</td><td></td><td>E</td></tr> <tr><td></td><td>S</td><td></td></tr> </table>		N		W		E		S		♠ A 8 ♥ K 7 6 ♦ — ♣ 8

♠ Q 7 2 ♥ J 10 8 ♦ — ♣ —	♠ 10 6 ♥ A 9 ♦ — ♣ J 7

When declarer now called for the jack of hearts from dummy and Nunes smoothly followed low, declarer put up the king! The defense was now able to cash out the clubs and attack the spades while still having a stopper in hearts. That took the contract one down.

12 IMPs to the NUNES team who won the match by 13-4, which earned the NUNES team 13.65 VPs out of the 20 available.

Dummy held the ♦7 and ♣4. East's cards were the ♥7 5. Friday was left with the ♥10 6. Friday could play either card from dummy and catch East in a trump coup. Note that the slam makes if East's club and spade cards were reversed.

I have never before been given a hand that was played some seventy years ago – and by the person who originally played it. Tony Friday is one of the elder statesmen on the bridge world scene. Now 85, he began playing bridge at prep school, where the pupils used Mah Jong tiles in place of cards, as bridge was frowned upon.

In 1937, Friday was a mere stripling of 15 when he played this hand at Eltham Golf Club. Contract bridge was in its infancy, and the bidding was certainly antiquated by today's standards. North opened One Spade and South, Friday, jumped to Four Diamonds, raised to Five Diamonds.

West led the king of clubs: Seven from dummy. East overtook with the ace, doubtless hoping to hold the trick and push a heart through. But Friday ruffed with the diamond six, then played the seven to the ace, finding that East held a trump trick.

Now came Friday's master play – the jack of clubs – on which he discarded a spade. On lead with the club queen, West was impotent, and Friday was able to ruff the third spade, setting up spades for two heart discards from hand.

He proceeded to dislodge East's diamond king, and could then enter dummy by overtaking the trump two with dummy's three, to access the two established spades.

And what if East had not overtaken dummy's club king at trick one? Friday would have allowed the king to hold, discarding a low spade from hand.

The Fab Four

by Mark Horton

If by any chance you have dropped in on the Red Bull Championships from the Planet Mars (should that be Red Bull Planet Mars?) I'll mention that my title relates to the best-selling band in the history of pop music (with over 600 million record sales worldwide) the legendary Beatles.

They acquired the nickname 'the Fab Four' as Beatlemania grew in Britain, and by early 1964 they had become international stars, leading the British Invasion of the United States pop market.

The Fab Four would be a good name for a bridge team (too late, I have already registered the copyright) and before the Mixed Teams started I took a look at the team lists in an attempt to form an opinion as to who might win.

Here are my six to follow (don't blame me if you lose your shirts) from China, Red Bull & Yeh Mix, from the USA, Diamond & Joel, a Monaco/USA combination, Nunes and a truly Transnational squad with players from England, Germany, Netherlands, Turkey & USA, Salvo.

When the matches for Round 1 were posted I noticed that they included Salvo v Meikuangtixie so I settled down to watch - and completely coincidentally Francesca produced a couple of great photos from the Open Room which showed the friendly spirit that prevailed.

SALVO v MEIKUANGTIXIE:

Marion Michielsen, Zia Mahmood, Xiangdong Liu, Jinghui Yang

With South making use of the world's most used Bols Bridge Tip (don't be afraid to respond) N/S stole the pot, although given that it is not easy for West to get into the bidding (Barry Rigal observed that a natural 2♣ would be one way) and even then EW would be doing very well to reach 4♥, it is not clear how significant an advantage this conferred.

2♠ drifted one down, -50.

Closed Room

West	North	East	South
Welland	Long	Auken	Gong

Facing a partner who would have bid at the drop of a hat (and was possibly short in clubs) West was content to let matters rest. There are ten tricks available in clubs - unluckily for the declarer it was the defenders who amassed them, down five, -250 and 5 IMPs to Salvo.

Considerable technical problems meant that I was unable to give more than a passing glance to the remaining deals of the match, although I did notice that in the Open Room South was able to start with a Multi 2♦ on both ♠A1065 ♥A9432 ♦9 ♣J763 and ♠A109873 ♥864 ♦- ♣7632. I guess if anyone asked South how strong her weak two might be she could reply 'It all depends on Mah Mood'.

Meyers guessed badly at her final turn, but it is easy to sympathize with her choice. Had slam been one down she would have been picking up the same number of IMPs she might have lost via a phantom sacrifice.

Still, though it is easy to be wise after the event, given that the opponents were quite likely to have a spade void for this auction, maybe the double was unwise. Declarer guessed trumps of course, and had no trouble collecting +1210, good for only a 6 IMP gain when The Levins were allowed to play slam undoubled against Narkiewicz-Sakowska.

Jill Meyers and Geoff Hampson

Jacek Pszczola and Meike Wortel

Not all N/S pairs went minus here. For example Pepsi (Jacek Pszczola), playing with Meike Wortel reached 5♠ after an auction in which East had shown diamonds and a heart fit. East led ♦A and shifted to ♥Q...not a bad idea in abstract. But when Pepsi ducked, an uncharitable commentator would deduce that either West's signal or East's brain was not up to the task. A heart continuation saw declarer ruff and draw trumps before pitching both clubs on the good diamonds. And that was +650!

INT 14-16 – plus upgrades

Meyers was in the hot seat again on the lead of the ♠J. Personally I'd have thought ducking to be the indicated play, but who am I to argue with the world's current number one at anything – let alone the world's top-ranked woman bridge player. Meyers covered and the defenders could now set up clubs and come to four hearts and two aces without any pain.

In the other room 3NT by North on a club lead had nine winners simply by setting up spades. Joel had 13 IMPs, and led by 18, winning eventually by 14.

In an identical position to Meyers (after 1♠-2♦-2NT-3NT) Disa Eythorsdottir received the ♠J lead and did duck. When she covered the next heart – a suit preference ♥8 from East, West won and shifted to a club. That had the effect of putting West in to set up hearts, but simultaneously gave declarer her ninth winner when the ♠A was where it needed to be. If East had overruled her partner and exited with a diamond, Disa might have had to find the ♣J for herself to bring in the ninth trick.

3♥ Invitational 6+ spades

Sarniak was in the right place at the right time here. Having elected to open 1♦ she found the good spades opposite and elected to simplify matters with keycard, reaching 5♠ the right way up – technically the par contract. On a top club lead she won and took a spade finesse. Meyers won her ♠K and had no winning option. She chose to play ace and a second heart and Sarniak won and cashed two diamonds to pitch two losers, ruffed a diamond, ruffed a club with the ♠A and claimed +450.

Though this was essentially a flat board, I thought E/W had done very well on a deal that caught out a large percentage of the field.

7.2 Mobile Phones and Electronic Devices

Mobile phones and electronic devices may not be taken into the playing area and toilets.

WBF General Conditions of Contest © 2014 Page 13

Any player, captain or coach bringing a mobile phone and or electronic device into the playing area and toilets will cause his team to be fined 2 VPs, (or 6 IMPs in a knockout match) or, in the case of pairs events, will result in his partnership being fined 25% of the matchpoints available on a board during the session, plus in all cases, a monetary fine, the amount of which will be announced to the participants before the start of the event. This penalty is mandatory. Failure to pay the fine will result in the player being prohibited from playing.

The Head Tournament Director may, at his discretion, prohibit a player from bringing other equipment into the playing area.

Anyone entering the playing area may be required to comply with procedures put in place by the WBF for the detection of such electronic equipment.

See also Section 27.2 for restrictions pertaining to spectators.

The Head Tournament Director will arrange for random checks of players, captains and coaches to ensure that there is compliance with these prohibitions. Refusal to submit to these checks will bar the individual concerned from entry to the playing area and toilet area, and from remaining there.

Refusal to submit to these checks will result in the individual being barred from the playing area and toilet area for the duration of the match or until such time as the Head Tournament Director, in consultation with the Championship Committee, shall decide.
